Narrative
 As we follow national pay schemes for both teaching staff and support staff we are confident that men and women are paid equally for doing equivalent jobs across the Trust.
 The above statistics illustrate the gender distribution at Tove Learning Trust across four equally sized quartiles, each containing 83 colleagues. Although the data shows that we employ a higher percentage of females in all quartiles, our equality policy reflects that any applications will be considered on it's own merits regardless of gender, or any other protected characteristic.

I confirm the data reported is accurate.
